City to Vote March 18 On Lake Bond Issue

Council Lifts Restrictions on Use of Water

Ban Lifted Because Blue Lake Water
Ready When Needed

The council of the city of Harrisburg today set Thursday, March 18, as the date the city will vote on the $200,000 bond issue to give Harrisburg an ample water supply and took off the restrictions on water use that have been in effect for several months.

The election date was set in an ordinance which was passed following the council's acceptance of a petition signed by approximately 1,500 voters asking for a referendum on the lake issue.

The lifting of the ban came after considerable discussion. It was lifted, council members stated, because Blue Lake water is now available. However, council members urged the public to continue to conserve water even though the restrictions have been lifted.

The question of car washing led up to the lifting of the ban. It was brought up that certain service stations were abiding by the ban by either hosing down cars or by hosing in water and using it, while there was evidence some stations were using city water.

Doom Is Consulted

The idea was that some should not be penalized while others were breaking the emergency ordinance. Dr. G. R. Johnson, finance commissioner, suggested that the water board be consulted first before the ban was lifted but following further discussion the motion was passed.

But before passage Amos Doom, water department superintendent, was consulted. Doom said that approximately one million gallons of water can be pumped daily from Blue Lake through the six inch line by the use of high pressure pumps that have been installed.

"We can have the thing working in a couple of hours," he stated, adding that the line had been laid, that one pump was in, and that the only thing necessary to be done now was the building of a small dam south of Sloan street and the installation of a pump there that is now at the reservoirs and is used for pumping water from the south to the north lake.

Agreement to Purchase Water

The council decided that the reservoir should be used until the water gets down to about a two weeks' supply and then the water in Blue Lake should be used. It is estimated that there is about a month or more water in the reservoir at the present.

The city has an agreement with

Merchants Plan Sales Promotion Day During March

Following a successful Dollar Days promotion, Harrisburg's Merchants association decided in last night's regular meeting to stage another big town-wide sales promotion in March.

Details of the promotion will be released later in the month, it was decided, but everyone agreed that every effort would be made to offer values to shoppers equal to or surpassing the Dollar Days bargains.

Bob Davenport brought up the approaching visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Saline county, stating that we must meet our quota of blood on this visit or lose the blood bank. He urged the merchants to allow any of their employees who wished to give blood, to take time off from their duties to donate, and the response was unanimous.

Six Killed in Crash Of Navy Helicopters

KEY WEST, Fla. (UP)—Two Navy helicopters collided here today, killing six men.

The accident happened at a sea plane base in Key West.

The Navy made the brief announcement. The planes were on a secret training mission.

Each helicopter carried three men. The Navy said the two craft were crossing over Fleming Key when the collision occurred in the air. Both planes burst into flames shortly after the accident.

Watson Says New Move Under Way For Coalition of Senate Candidates

CHICAGO (UP)—Deneen Watson, who withdrew from the crowded Illinois Republican senatorial primary race in favor of Austin L. Wyman, said today that a move was under way to try for a further coalition of pro-Eisenhower candidates.

Watson and Wyman said Monday that Watson had withdrawn from the 10-man contest to avoid "splitting" the support of voters sympathetic to President Eisenhower and his administration.

Political observers believed that pressure would be brought on two other candidates, pledged to support Mr. Eisenhower's policies, Edgar M. Elbert and Herbert F. Geisler, to drop out of the race in favor of Wyman.

Watson said he had talked to Elbert Sunday but that the past president of Lions International "is still running."

Watson dropped out because he hopes to head off victory by the more conservative candidates like Joseph T. Meek, Julius Klein and Edward A. Hayes.

At a news conference Monday, Watson said that, in his opinion, Meek was leading the field. A spokesman for Meek, commenting on the Watson-Wyman peace pact, said "We don't think it'll make any difference in our campaign."

"I don't see that it will have any bearing on Joe's chances," the spokesman said.

It was learned at the news conference attended by both Watson and Wyman that the reason Watson withdrew was that Wyman flatly refused to make the sacrifice.

Only a few days before, on Feb. 20, Watson himself had urged Wyman and Elbert to withdraw and support him.

"I tried to get Wyman to withdraw, but he wouldn't," Watson said.

Blackard Tells Rotary of Local Hospitals' Work

Dr. William J. Blackard spoke to fellow Rotarians last night at the group's weekly dinner meeting in the Masonic temple, reviewing the activities and business value of the two local hospitals to the community.

The speaker, introduced by Henry Winkelman, did not dwell on the medical assistance given by the hospitals, which is of common knowledge, but confined his remarks to the less known factors. He brought out the fact that the hospitals are one of the city's largest employers, hiring some 70 persons with a payroll of nearly $11,000 a month.

The Lightner hospital, Dr. Blackard related, was purchased several months ago by Dr. S. H. Frazier Jr. and Dr. Warren D. Tuttle, who are now in the process of acquiring the major interest in the Harrisburg hospital as well.

Policies of the Lightner hospital are determined by the Harrisburg Medical foundation, the speaker pointed out, with all local physicians holding membership in the organization, except one. Lightner hospital, he added, was a non-profit institution.

Plan Ladies' Night March 22

Cost of operating the hospitals per person per day was said to average $15.17 at Harrisburg and $16.10 at the Lightner. Last year, Harrisburg hospital had a total of 1567 patients with an average stay of 9.6 days. Lightner treated 1426 patients with an average stay of 9.1 days.

Room rates at the two hospitals, Dr. Blackard stated, are practically the same with each charging $11 per day for private rooms and $9.00 per day for semi-private. Ward rates are $7.00 per day at Harrisburg, $8.00 per day at Lightner.

Dr. Blackard also read members portions of the club's constitution and by-laws in an effort to better acquaint new members with Rotary's purposes.

During the business session Dr. L. I. Webb, Roy Thompson and L. W. Riley volunteered to represent Rotary on the Red Cross drive committee. Fred Russler was appointed to serve on the civic committee planning the Easter Sunrise service.

A ladies' night program will be held on March 22 with Dr. Webb as speaker.

City Services in St. Louis Bugged Down by Strike

ST. LOUIS (UP)—St. Louis city services bogged down today as effects of the strike of city-employed electricians and painters spread in the second day of the walkout.

Monday night much of the west end of the city was in darkness as some 300 street lights flickered out. Trouble at a substation was blamed for the blackout but there was little to be done about it in the absence of the electricians. Many sections of Forest Park were also left in darkness.

Individual lights went out in many of the city's main traffic arteries but these were replaced almost at once by a private contractor who handles this emergency.

But traffic was tied up until police could take over at five busy intersections where bulbs burned out in electric stop signs.

C. H. Burnett Will Leave Large Estate

Executrix Fills
Bond for $1,840,000;
Bulk to His Sister

The late C. H. Burnett, Eldorado millionaire who died Jan. 14, left the bulk of his estate to his sister, Pet B. Speer of Eldorado, his will which was filed for probate yesterday revealed.

The bond filled by the executrix, $1,840,000, is the largest ever filed in probate court here, it was learned.

Mr. Burnett, who never married, was familiarly known as "Colonel" Burnett. For years he headed the C. P. Burnett and Sons Co. in Eldorado, which owned a grocery, dry goods, men's clothing, women's clothing, shoe, furniture and hardware stores, a lumber yard and the C. P. Burnett and Sons, Bankers, in Eldorado.

In recent years he had sold out his retail holdings and the bank, maintaining his interest in the lumber yard.

Leaves Home to Sister

The will, which was dated Dec. 28, 1949, provides for the following: His residence at 1104 Walnut street in Eldorado to his sister, Pet B. Speer;

To his sister, Clara B. Randall, Los Angeles, $50,000;

To Ida Mae Goe, a friend, $5,000;

To Bess Webber of Topeka, Kansas, a friend, $5,000;

To Madeline Steagaves, who worked in his household, $1,000;

To C. P. Burnett of New York City, a nephew who is the son of his late brother, C. P. Burnett, $5,000;

To Madeline Burnett, widow of his brother, C. P., $5,000;

To Gail Burnett of Los Angeles, daughter of a deceased brother, $5,000.

Remainder to Sister

A list of bequests of $5,000 to Guy Burnett and Edwin Burnett of Eldorado, nephews, but they have died between the time the will was written and its filing for probate, and it was learned that these bequests go back into the estate and not to their heirs as the bequests are termed lapsed legacies.

The will said that the remainder of the estate should go to his sister, Pet B. Speer, to her and her heirs forever, to keep, sell or dispose of as she chooses, upon condition that she pay to his sister, Elizabeth B. Lynn of St. Louis, $2,000 each year upon the anniversary of the date of his death, as long as Mrs. Lynn shall live.

The will also pointed out that Mr. Burnett owned a half interest, Mrs. Speer a fourth interest and Ernie Tate a fourth interest in the Burnett Lumber Co., and provided that Mrs. Speer, whom the will appointed as executrix, should be substituted for him as partner in the lumber company.

The estate is being handled by two Benton attorneys, Roy Martin and Moses Pulverman.

Youth Is Charged With Statutory Rape

One Eldorado youth was charged with statutory rape and two others were charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, a 12-year-old girl. Charged with statutory rape of the girl is Raymond Calhoun. Charged with contributing to her delinquency are his brother, Adam R. Calhoun, and Floyd Kauble.

Raymond Calhoun was placed in jail in lieu of bond, which was set at $2,000. The other two pleaded innocent upon arraignment and were released on bonds of $500, returnable the second Monday in March.

Smoke Damages Home At Carrier Mills

The home of Bud Hearn, 407 North Mill street, Carrier Mills, was extensively damaged by smoke today.

Fire of undetermined origin was confined to cabinets in the kitchen, but smoke from the fire filled the house and awakened the family about 3 a. m.

Mr. Hearn discovered the fire in cabinet drawers and extinguished it before it gained much headway.

Pleads Innocent to Driving Charges

John Thomas McDaniel of Eldorado, charged with driving while intoxicated and reckless driving yesterday following a collision Saturday night, pleaded innocent upon arraignment. His bond was set at $1,000, returnable March 22.

McDaniel was jailed by state police after his car figured in a crash with one driven by David Gowins of Carrier Mills. Gowins and Barry Hunter, his passenger, were injured. The collision occurred on Route 34 near Rileyville.

Prepare for Biggest Nuclear Blast in History

WASHINGTON (UP)—The mightiest nuclear explosion in history was believed to be in preparation in the Pacific today in the wake of the first atomic test of the government's 1954 series.

An Atomic Energy Commission statement disclosed Monday that an "atomic device" has been detonated at the Eniwetok-Bikini proving ground. The AEC called the explosion the "first in a series of tests."

The series is expected to include a hydrogen bomb explosion of roughly twice the violence of the hydrogen "device" which wiped out an island on Nov. 1, 1952.

Informal sources said "atomic device" was a carefully chosen expression in Monday's announcement. It could refer to a test "gadget," an atomic weapon, an atomic trigger for hydrogen weapons or an actual hydrogen bomb.

Authorities, however, refused to encourage speculation that the so-called spring tests had begun with a hydrogen explosion. The test is expected to come later.

A congressional delegation is preparing to leave for the Marshall Islands test site next week-end. Some military men indicated there still may be time to reach the area before the big hydrogen test.

Need Leaders for Boy Scout, Cub Training Course

A leadership training course will begin March 19 for Cub Scout leaders and Boy Scout leaders. The Sahara district course will be held in a place still undecided, but transportation will be furnished for those interested in the program.

James Arensman will be in charge of the Cub training to last six weeks and Francis Jahn will be in charge of the 8-week Boy Scout course. The meetings will be held on Friday nights for two hours.

Ronnie Doerge, chairman of the Leadership Training committee, for Sahara district, stated there are 1300 boys eligible for Boy Scout and Cub activity in Harrisburg, but cannot participate because of lack of leaders.

Anyone eligible for a leader is asked to call Mr. Doerge, telephone 777.

Mothers are needed to become den mother or assistant den mother, and men are needed who are interested in scouting who might serve as cubmaster, scoutmaster, assistant scoutmaster or troop committeeman.

State Police Raid Club at Centralia

CENTRALIA, Ill. (UP)—State police raided the Paramount Club Monday night and confiscated several pieces of gambling equipment, Capt. Walter A. Eichen said today.

Eichen said the raid was made about 10 p. m. while a large private party was being held at the club but no arrests were made. However, Eichen said a complaint regarding the gambling devices would be made today against Russell Corbin, holder of the club's liquor license.

Two dice tables, a poker table and a quantity of cards, dice and chips were taken in the raid and held at District 13 headquarters in Du Quoin as evidence.

State Police Lt. Eliza Brantley said one of the dice tables apparently was "fixed" because four large batteries were found in the table legs.

State police also raided the club Jan. 17.

GOP Chairman Refuses to Go Along with McCarthy's Attacks on Army Generals

WASHINGTON (UP)—Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said today at the White House that he could not "go along" with Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) when the senator attacks Army generals who are fighting communism.

Hall made the comment after a conference with President Eisenhower. He calls on Mr. Eisenhower at fairly frequent intervals to discuss political matters. He told reporters frankly today that he came in to discuss "the so-called McCarthy situation."

The chairman said he thought the "situation" tended to befog the true purposes of the Eisenhower program as far as the public was concerned.

Asked whether he thought McCarthy is still a Republican asset, as he had said recently, Hall answered: "I don't like the situation as it developed last week."

Can't Go Along

"My feelings are that while Joe is fighting communism, we all go along," Hall said, "but when he begins to attack persons who are fighting communism just as conscientiously as he is, I can't go along with him."

Hall obviously referred to the current dispute between McCarthy and Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens over the Wisconsin Republican's treatment of Army witnesses before his investigating subcommittee.

He declined to commit the President in the matter.

McCarthy, meanwhile, was still involved with the Army. He indicated he will propose at a forthcoming meeting with Stevens that "special labor camps" be established for Communist suspects in the Army.

Says Discharges No Answer

The Wisconsin Republican said he hopes to discuss some plan with Stevens which will "clearly label" Communists in the Army. Stevens appears before McCarthy's Permanent Investigating subcommittee either Thursday or next Monday. He was invited before the group after offering to appear.

McCarthy said discharges are not the answer for suspected Communists or those who invoke constitutional privilege in refusing to answer questions on subversion. Instead of such a "convenient draft-dodging device," he suggested that such persons be placed in special labor camps similar to those set up for conscientious objectors.

Stevens offered to testify on what McCarthy called "contradictions" in Army policy on loyalty discharges. The subcommittee invitation left Stevens the choice of Thursday or next Monday. However, the secretary said either day would be satisfactory with him.

Arrangements for Stevens' appearance, his first before the subcommittee, were an outgrowth of his sharp clash with McCarthy last week over what Stevens called the senator's "abuse" and "humiliation" of Army officers.

Rep. A. L. Miller, angered by the terror attacks of Puerto Rican Nationalists suggested today that the United States might free the island to make its people subject to U. S. immigration laws.

Miller (R-Neb.), chairman of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, raised the possibility after three Nationalists wounded five congressmen in a wild shooting spree in the House of Representatives. Miller's committee handles legislation affecting Puerto Rico.

Rep. Wingate Lucas (D-Texas), one of the congressmen who helped disarm the gunmen, also said the government should end the present free movement which has allowed nearly a million Puerto Ricans to become residents of the United States.

But he said the Nationalists' terror tactics, which included an abortive attempt on President Truman's life in 1950, are not responsible for his views.

Resident Commissioner Antonio Fernos-Isern, Puerto Rico's spokesman in Congress, reiterated that Monday's attackers "are certainly out of touch with the political situation in Puerto Rico." He called the murder plot part of "a Communist attempt to disrupt national harmony."

The island's electorate voted overwhelmingly in 1952 to associate Puerto Rico with the United States as a self-governing commonwealth. And Gov. Luis Munoz Marin and the Legislature in January declined Miller's offer to sponsor legislation giving them either independence or statehood.

Earlier President Eisenhower had offered White House support if the Puerto Rican people requested independence.

Rep. Herman Conover is in the race for county clerk, seeking nomination from the Republican ticket.

Conover, a resident of Dorris Heights, is a native of Harrisburg. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conover, his father being a well-known carpenter. He attended the Harrisburg city schools.

Conover, who is seeking office for the first time, has operated a service station and the Dairy-Hi in Harrisburg under the name of "Herman the Vermin."

He is married to the former Miss Mary Russell and they have two sons and two daughters.

Martin Issues New Admission Cards to House

Four Captured
After Wounding
Five Congressmen

WASHINGTON (UP)—Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. cancelled all outstanding cards of admission to the House of Representatives today as federal officials agreed on a "temporary" security plan to guard against any new terrorist acts by a fanatical band of Puerto Rican assassins.

Martin issued 10,000 new cards of admission to the House galleries and warned members to be careful about giving them out.

District Police Chief Robert Murray and House officials agreed at a 50-minute secret conference on new security measures to be taken. Details were not announced immediately but the Senate also was restricting gallery visitors to persons with passes from members.

Four Captured

Special precautions were taken throughout the capital to prevent repetition anywhere else of the fanatical gun attack on the House of Representatives that left one member critically wounded and four others less seriously hurt.

The assassins, a quartet led by a petite pistol-packing brunette spouting demands for Puerto Rican freedom, were captured shortly after firing upwards of a dozen high velocity bullets from German-made guns from the House gallery.

Gravely wounded, his lung, right kidney and diaphragm pierced and his liver smashed, was 35-year-old Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.) whose physician said his fate is "in the hands of the Lord."

Bentley, despite the pain of his wounds and a complicated operation, spent a "fairly restful night" at Casualty Hospital.

Extra Guards in Buildings

But Dr. Joseph R. Young, chief surgeon at the hospital, said "sufficient time has not passed to give any definite" forecast of his eventual fate.

For the assassins, members of the violent if small Puerto Rican Nationalist Party, the outcome of Bentley's struggle could mean the difference between life and death for them.

They are now charged with assault with intent to kill. If Bentley dies the charge would be changed to first degree murder, the penalty for which would be death.

Government buildings bristled with extra guards. The FBI investigated a possible Communist link in the bloody violence that erupted in the House Monday.

At some key points in the White House area the police force was doubled. At least two sentry booths which had not been manned by White House policemen for months were staffed again this morning.

Says Not Sorry

On Capitol Hill, a Secret Service man was stationed outside Speaker Martin's office. The guard was in a position where he also could keep an eye on persons going into the office of Democratic House Leader Sam Rayburn of Texas.

Rep. Hugh D. Scott Jr. (R-Pa.), introduced legislation to make it a felony for any person to carry a deadly weapon while "in the presence" of either house of Congress or of any congressional committee.

Although the terrorist leader said the four did not "shoot to kill," she added defiantly, "I am not sorry for what I did."

The assassins were locked in separate cells of the District of Columbia jail. They spent a quiet

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Stevens Incident Spotlights Serious Sore Points: Republican Disunity Takes Dangerous Turn: Intolerance Breeds Fan Flames Of Dissension.

WASHINGTON. — Mrs. Robert Stevens, charming wife of the much-beleaguered secretary of the Army, was talking to a group of ladies at a social function just a few days before Senator McCarthy put him on the spot.

"My husband," she said, "only agreed to stay in Washington a short time. We can't stay in government too long."
"What you Republicans seem to believe in government by interlude," interposed Betty Beale, sprightly columnist for the Washington Star. "You seem to think that running the government is something you can learn in one short year and then go off and forget. The Democrats on the other hand make government a career. They know it's a tough job, so they stay and work at it."

Now that Mrs. Stevens' sincere but politically naive husband has been subjected to the most disagreeable McCarthy brain-wash so far given an Eisenhower cabinet member, his disinclination to stay in Washington is not likely to change. It's almost certain that after a discreet lapse of time, he will quietly bow out.

INCREASING ISOLATION
Meanwhile, his tangle with Mc-Carthy spotlights two important problems of government which have become increasingly difficult during the Eisenhower administration.

Problem No. 1 is that of getting good men to serve in government.
Because of low salaries, this has always been difficult. But in view of McCarthy's attacks, it's become even more difficult. No important business executive wants to give up a good job (Stevens surrendered his stock in the largest textile firm in the world) for the doubtful privilege of coming to Washington to get clobbered over the head by Mc-Carthy for something he may know little about.

Problem No. 2 is even more serious. It's the growing division not only in the Republican party but in the nation.

The division is not dissimilar to that which occurred before the disaster of Pearl Harbor awakened the American people and knit them into one team. And as before Pearl Harbor, the division takes two drifts.

Drift No. 1 is that toward isolation. This is a revival of the traditional trend inside the Republican party to erect high tariff barriers, drastically curtail the armed forces, and pull away from the rest of the world.

Herbert Hoover's administration was badly split over isolation.
Eventually the high tariff, isolationists helped to wreck the economy. And the international isolationists pulled Hoover far enough away from the liberal Republicans led by Henry L. Stimson, so that they helped precipitate World War II.

RELIGIOUS BITTERNESS Drift No. 2 is toward intolerance and dissension.

Fifteen years ago, the American people were plagued with such breeders of dissension as Gerald Winrod, Fritz Kuhn, William Dudley Pelley, and others who spread late and poison among their fel-lowmen.

Today, the Winrods have come out of their holes again and are spreading the same kind of poison.
The names are different now —
Colonel Williams, Gerald L. K.
Smith, the Liberty Bells, the Minute Women. Some of them, such as the boycotting ladies of Texas who prevent any point of view from being discussed except their own, probably don't realize how they are being used.

But the net result is to increase division and dissension among the American people.

Senator McCarthy's investigations, whether intentional or unintentional, have focused on certain religious groups, thus increasing this dissension. His support of a relief investigator who claimed the Protestant clergy was riddled with communism, unfortunately set back the cooperation which had been growing between Catholics and Protestants.

Cardinal Spellman's public statement endorsing McCarthy has given the mistaken impression that McCarthy is an instrument of the church, and unfortunately the public forgets that both Catholic clergy and lay Catholics are just as divided on McCarthy as non-Catholics, with the Jesuit magazine
"America" sometimes vigorously critical of him. But forgetting this fact, religious bitterness reminiscent of the Ku Klux Klan days and Senator Tom-Tom Heflin of Alabama has begun to smoulder.

ANTI-SEMITISM

In Boston, the Senate Juvenile Delinquency committee has just written a report showing how religious prejudice had flared so bi-terly that a rabbi, Jacob I. Zuber, was murdered by boys of another religious faith. The Senate report was toned down somewhat, but committee investigators found that part of Boston's juvenile crime resulted from youthful gangs of one religious faith warring on others.

At Ft. Monmouth, N. J., religious tolerance was not helped by Mc-Carthy's focusing on Jewish workers for the Signal Corps. Out of 19 people suspended, during or after McCarthy's probe, 17 were Jews, yet not one of them was even remotely accused of espionage.

One was suspended merely because he had read a book by Max Lerner. Max Lerner is not a Communist, never has been a Communist, is a liberal writer for the New York Post. Yet this Signal Corps employee was suspended merely because he had read a book by Lerner.

Thirteen others at Fort Monmouth were suspended and employed, all being Jews; while fifteen others had their security clearance removed, of which twelve were Jews.

All of this made it appear that McCarthy and the Army were following an anti-Semitic line; for not one of the above was accused of espionage. In every case the charge was guilt by association, and after the probe was completed such staunch Eisenhower newspapers as the New York Herald Tribune and the New York Times, to say nothing of the secretary of the Army, showed conclusively that the Fort Monmouth probe was a tempest in a teapot.

Yet because of McCarthy's daily headlines and inflammatory statements, much of the general public still considers Fort Monmouth a nest of spies and unfairly thinks that most of them are Jewish.

"Atlas" Atlas

The famous Flemish map-maker, Gerhard Mercator, first used the term "atlas" in allusion to the fact that most map books bore a picture on the cover or title page showing Atlas supporting the

OUT OF THE PAST—This volume, believed to be the oldest typographic book known, probably turned out by Johann Gutenberg more than 500 years ago, is now in New York's Pierpont Morgan Library.
It's a 376-page book containing all the major masses and was printed for the Roman Catholic diocese of Constance, Germany. Frederick B.
Adams, Jr., director of the library, holds the Constance missal above a case containing a Gutenberg Bible. Adams says it is the most important printed book ever acquired by an American library. Previously the famed Gutenberg Bible had been considered the first book printed from movable type.

Tighten Security Measures After Shooting in Capitol

Come A-Smokin' by Nelson Nye

Grete Marratt wheeled his horse, ready to strike out for Wineglass when a small, dark man came out of the shadows. "I've been asked to tell you your crew'll show up tomorrow forenoon. Lay in some grub and a couple gross of boxed cartridges."

Marratt dropped folded hands across the pommel of his saddle. "Who put you up to this?"

"I guess you know who's behind 'a' your paper. Expect the boys tomorrow mornin'."

"If they come out," Marratt promised, "it'll be to stay permanent."

Marratt had no way of guessing how many miles he'd put behind him when he became acutely conscious of the smell of risen dust.

There was another rider ahead of him someplace. Since the fellow was patently bound in the same direction it was probably someone who'd quit town just ahead of him. Someone packing the news from the Red Horse Bar.

He had no desire to interfere with this traveler. The whole purpose of that warning he'd hung up had been to channel Crafin's rage away from Naome.

Just the same, Marratt sent the roan forward. That rider whose discovered dust had caused him to drop back need not, because he'd thought it was, be a courier from the Red Horse Bar—it could have been Naome.

He used his spurs on the roan, unaccountably disquieted. They swept around a tangle of chaparral and up a clatterous slope grotesquely sentinelled by the night-blackened shapes of motionless caguaro. Past thickets of squatting cedar they tore and up the high arch of a talus-littered hogback which connected this bench with the vast expanse of greasewood flats surrounding Ryerson's headquarters.

They crested the ridge and the compression of Marratt's knees, together with the savage grip of the yanked-tight reins, set the big roan back on its haunches. Marratt's widened stare held the shock of complete astonishment.

He'd expected to see Ryerson's buildings down there but he hadn't been prepared to see them going up in flames.

A great pall of smoke hung over the flat, writhing and twisting in the glow of the flames. The yard down there looked as bright as day and he could see the panicked broncos of the remuda, squealing and pitching in the clutch of terror, as they tore around and around the smoking logs of their enclosure.

No man who loved horses could long watch that, yet Marratt hesitated, bothered by his inability to find any sign of the rider who had traveled this trail just ahead of him. Of course the fellow could be sitting, much as Marratt was himself, a fascinated spectator of the conflagration which must soon reduce those costly buildings to ashes. Just the same, Marratt didn't like it. The man should be in sight if he weren't hiding.

The rider wasn't Naomi; she'd have made straight for those buildings. Unless of course she had been grabbed by somebody lurking in ambush.

Marratt snorted. Not even Crafin could have set that fire in the expectation of getting his hands on Naome. He'd better loose those horses and get out of here.

He couldn't think why he should feel so reluctant about going down there. It didn't look like, from here, the flat afforded enough cover in the light of those flames to rig an effective trap even were somebody minded to do it. With a disgusted grimace he kneeled the big roan forward across the downward sweep of the hogback's arch.

They had not moved 10 lengths from the jut of its crest when the trail dropped to a hidden hollow which, now opening up, disclosed a black tangle of mixed oak and sycamore, and above and beyond these the waiting shape of a motionless horseman.

Marratt, instantly alert, scanned the pooled gloom below the man with lifted hackles. He felt certain that fellow didn't just happen to be posted there.

He wished with bitter anger he'd had the wit to fetch a rifle. But, satisfied at last there was nobody else between them, he said sharply: "Move up, friend. I want to see what you look like."

The man had his legs straight down in the stirrups and he kept them that way, making no move at all. "You'd need a light to do that and if you scratch a match we're done for."

"Mister," Marratt said, "I won't

City to Vote March 18 On Lake Bond Issue

Blue Lake owners in which water from that body can be bought for four cents a thousand gallons.

The ordinance calling for a referendum on the lake question and accepted this morning, contained considerably more than the required 20 per cent of the number who voted in the last municipal election. It asked for the submission for public approval of Ordinance 599, passed Feb. 17 by the council, which provided for the issuance of $200,000 in revenue bonds for the lake.

Mayor Ralph Horning Jr. said the petitions bear 1,505 names but that City Attorney Scerial Thompson had eliminated 24, chiefly where women did not sign their given names but those of their husbands, like "Mrs. John Jones."

Ordinance Printed Today

He said that attorneys for Barcus-Kindred, the firm that will buy the proposed bonds, have advised the city that a special election could be held 15 days after filing of a petition asking for a referendum and that their attorneys had prepared an ordinance calling for the election on March 18. This ordinance, which sets up precinct boundaries and eight voting places, is carried in its entirety in today's issue of The Daily Register.

Following passage of the election ordinance, Mayor Horning said that the biggest opposition to the project appeared to be that some felt the price being paid for the land was in some cases too high, but that under the circumstances, he felt that the water board had done a good job on the figures obtained in the options.

He said that if a person wanted to go out and buy himself 40 acres, he probably could do better, but that when the city had to have a block of land for a lake, they had to pay more to get it.

He pointed out that on this land were old home places and farm buildings that were included in the price, and emphasized that when you go out to buy something that a person doesn't want to sell, the price is always higher than when he is trying to sell.

Later, he said, the city could do some swapping of land that would cut down on the cost, by trading some land they had to buy to get what they wanted for some that they needed.

"Personally, I don't think that $200,000 is too high a price for a city the size of Harrisburg to pay for an adequate water supply," he stated. "But you are going to hear all kinds of stories on these options. When you do, just send whoever it is to the city clerk's office where they can look over the options and see for themselves."

Unwanted Discovery?

The Priglof Islands, property of the United States and home grounds of most of the world's fur seals, were considered so unimportant to explorers that they were discovered and forgotten three times before they were given a name.

be telling you again."

The man held a hand up like an Indian signaling silence. Then he moved it again, like a cowboy intent on yanking a worm from the ground. Only, this time, its gesture was downward.

The shank of this depression flanked the left of a hogback while the burning buildings of Ryerson's headquarters were considerably forward and to the right of Marratt's position. It was a natural assumption the man's attention was fixed on something which Marratt himself could not see.

Cold silvers of disquiet scratched at his nerve-ends, but, a strengthening curiosity and the plight of those penned-up horses were fraying his caution. "What is it?" Marratt called.

"It's the girl! That dirty dog of a Crafin!" Dragging his rifle out of the saddle, the man piled out of the saddle and his shape disappeared into the shadows.

WHAT DO YOU WANT TO KNOW ABOUT BANKING?

How do I use my bank statement to reconcile my checks? Look balance with your record of my balance?

FROM your checkbook balance, subtract any service charges. From the statement balance, subtract the total of checks issued but not yet paid by the bank; add deposits made since the date of the statement. The two balances should then be in agreement.

The statement of your account which we send you periodically also brings you your cancelled checks—your receipts for bills paid.

Records Show Attack On Congress Unprecedented; Three Presidents Killed

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was unseasonably warm that afternoon—Nov. 1, 1950. The front door of Blair House, temporary residence of the President across the street from the White House, stood wide open.

In an upstairs bedroom overlooking Pennsylvania Avenue, President Truman was taking a nap.

Suddenly, shots shattered the mid-afternoon quiet. Two swarthy strangers were converging on Blair House from opposite directions, German Luger pistols blazing. Startled White House guards returned their fire.

The assassins, Oscar Collazo and Griello Torresola, were Puerto Ricans, members of the revolutionary Nationalist Party — as were the fanatics who sprayed the House with gunfire Monday.

Three presidents have died at the hands of assassins but historical records indicate the attack on members of Congress during a session was unprecedented.

Demand the Floor

The closest parallel occurred more than 20 years ago, on Dec. 14, 1932. Marlin Kemmerer, Allentown, Pa., rose in the visitors gallery of the House, brandishing a gun and shouting, "I demand the floor."

Rep. Melvin J. Maas (R-Minn.) talked the man into dropping the gun. But Maas, now living in retirement here, recalled it was tough and got for a few minutes.

When he demanded the gun, he said, the man shouted "I'll give it to you and cocked it. But then he meekly surrendered the weapon.

When the 1950 gun battle broke out in front of Blair House, President Truman rushed to the window.

"Get back!" a Secret Service agent yelled. The President did.

When the gun smoke cleared, one assassin, Torresola, was dead. White House guard Leslie Coffelt, who put a bullet through his brain, lay fatally wounded. Collazo and two other guards were shot but recovered.

Bricker Escaped Bullet in 1947

Collazo was convicted of murder and sentenced to death. Mr. Truman later commuted the sentence to life imprisonment.

Other instances of violence have involved Capitol figures through the years.

On Feb. 28, 1890 William Preston Taulbee (D-Ky) was shot down by Charles E. Kincaid, a Louisville newspaperman, on a Capitol staircase. Taulbee, who had objected to Kincaid's stories and pulled the newsman's ears, died 11 days later.

Sen. John W. Bricker narrowly escaped an assassin's bullet in the Senate subway July 12, 1947. The gunman was William L. Kaiser, a former Capitol policeman who had Cannon (D-Mo) and John Phillips (R-Calif) exchanged blows outside a House hearing room. Cannon was a veteran of earlier bouts with Rep. John Taber (R-NY) and Rep. Milton Romjue (D-Mo).

Sens. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind), Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Mass) and Herbert H. Lehman (D-NY) had a scuffle following a radio debate on foreign policy in 1951.

During the prohibition era, Sen. Frank Lester Greene (R-Vt) was severely wounded when he was caught in a gun battle between federal agents and bootleggers on Pennsylvania Avenue.

In 1919, during the famous federal "Red round-up," a bomb was placed on the front porch of the home of Att. Gen. A. Mitchell Palmer. Palmer wasn't home and the assassin was blown to bits.

In 1912, a package bomb was left in a Senate ante room. It exploded harmlessly during the night.

Ted Williams Out of Action Until Early May

SARASOTA, Fla. (P) — Thumping Ted Williams, who might have avoided breaking his collarbone if he'd followed his own advice to teammates, won't be ready to play until early May, the stunned Boston Red Sox learned today.

The latest word from Dr. Michael Dicosolo was that the star outfielder, key man in Boston's dream of a pennant, won't be able to run for three weeks or swing a bat for six weeks—about the time the season is starting in mid-April. Sox officials are fervently hoping that the famed slugger will then take about two weeks to get into shape to play.

Fellow outfielder Jim Piersall revealed today the ironic fact that, just before the accident occurred, Williams had warned him to "take it easy." The veteran star told the young, daring Piersall that "this outfield is in terrible condition—if we're not careful, somebody is going to suffer a broken leg out here."

Moments later Williams stumbled on the outfield turf while chasing a low line drive off the bat of Hoot Evers and crashed on his left shoulder.

"I started after that fly ball and saw I couldn't get it, so I held up and stumbled and tried to roll over on the ground," the disconsolate slugger said. "I felt something snap. It didn't hurt right away but as soon as I stood up I knew something was wrong. I knew to have problems every year."

Manager Lou Boudreau, who said "it felt like I broke my own shoulder," pinned his hopes on the brilliant hitter's ability to round into batting form with amazing speed. Boudreau recalled Ted's spectacular return last season when, after flying 39 missions in Korea as a Marine fighter pilot, the big slugger compiled a .407 average in 37 games.

"It's a severe blow," Boudreau said. "But Ted proved to us in Boston last season that he can get into shape within two weeks. Naturally, his health is most important to us. But he'll be all right."

Ezzard Charles Regains Top Place Among Contenders

NEW YORK (P) — Ex-champion Ezzard Charles recaptured the top perch among heavyweight contenders in the Ring Magazine's ratings today; but two other ex-rulers—welterweight Johnny Bratton and featherweight Willie Pep—dropped almost out of the rankings.

Charles, who challenges Rocky Marciano for the title on June 17, switched positions on the list with Nino Valdes of Cuba, now No. 2.

Ezzard won his last two bouts by knockouts over Coley Wallace and Bob Satterfield, whereas Valdes made a poor showing in his last fight while winning an unpopular split decision over obscure Archie McBride in Havana.

Willie Pep plummeted from first place among the featherweights to 10th because of his second-round knockout by young Lulu Perez last Friday night. Perez rose from fifth to third, behind Baby Ortiz of Mexico, No. 2, and Percy Bassett, No. 1.

Bratton sank from third to 10th among welterweights because of his miserable showing while losing a decision to Johnny Saxton last week.

Previously unranked Nate Brooks of Cleveland soared to fourth place among bantamweight aspirants because of his sensational eighth-round knockout over Billy Peacock for the American 118-pound crown on Feb. 8.

Wallace (Bud) Smith sank from top rung among lightweights to third position because of his knock-out by welterweight Joe Miceli, who jumped from obscurity to No. 9 among welters. Eddie Chavez replaced Smith as top lightweight contender, just above Cuban Orlando Zulueta.

Kentucky Closes Season with Perfect Record

NEW YORK (P) — The Kentucky Wildcats gleefully closed the season's books today on the nation's only major perfect basketball record, but looked forward with gloom to their prospects of winning the NCAA championship.

The Wildcats of Coach Adolph Rupp completed their amazing comeback saga Monday night with a 68-43 rout of Alabama at Tuscaloosa, Ala., for a clean sweep of all 24 games on their regular season schedule.

The victory assured Kentucky, which returned to the court this season after sitting out a year's NCAA suspension for recruiting violations, of at least a tie for the Southeastern conference championship. Louisiana State also is unbeaten in league competition but has one more game to play. A final tie would force a playoff at Nashville, Tenn., March 9.

Finest Team, Rupp Says
Coach Rupp happily declared after Monday night's triumph that "there is no question this is the best team we ever had at Kentucky and the finest team I have ever seen." He called the perfect season "what everybody in Kentucky wanted."

Kentucky is the first major college to go unbeaten through a 20-game-or-more schedule since Long Island University won all 22 of its games in 1938-39. It's the first unbeaten Kentucky squad since the 1911-12 outfit had a 9-0 mark.

But Coach Rupp's beaming grin vanished when he was asked how he thinks Kentucky would do in the NCAA tournament—from which his three top players, Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey, and Lou Tsiropoulos, would be barred on eligibility grounds.

"How deep did we dip tonight?" asked Rupp in return. He meant that he used only six players against Alabama and that his "Big Three" produced 45 of 68 points, with Hagan's 24 leading all scorers.

Big Ten Indoor Track Meet Friday, Saturday at U. I.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—One hundred ninety-four of the Middle West's best track and field performers will vie for individual and team titles in the 44th Annual Big Ten Indoor track and field championships Friday and Saturday in University of Illinois Armory.

Michigan, seeking its first crown since 1945, has entered the meet's largest squad, 34 men, and the Wolverines rate equally with defending champion, Illinois, as a favorite for the title.

Coach Leo Johnson's Illini squad is small—he has 16 entries—but showed exceptional strength in downing Michigan in a dual meet two weeks ago by a three-point margin.

Wisconsin and Indiana have entered 24-man squads, while Iowa and Michigan State will be represented by 23 each. Other schools and numbers of entries are: Ohio State 16; Purdue 12; Northwestern 11, and Minnesota 11.

While Michigan and Illinois stand out as principal contenders for the title, several observers figure these two could be edged by either Michigan State or Indiana in the new, enlarged meet which includes 300, 600, and 1,000-yard races in addition to the normal 12-event program.

Big Ten records are endangered in two events, the 880-yard run and the high jump. Both Gene Maynard of Illinois and Peter Gray of Michigan have been timed in 1:52.4 in the half-mile this year, bettering the present mark held

Triple Tie is Possible in Big Ten Race

Indiana Will Close Season Saturday Against Illinois

CHICAGO (P) — A three way tie for the Big Ten basketball championship was possible today, the possible triple deadlock Monday night, each winning over a league foe.

The Hawkeyes romped to an 84-71 triumph over Ohio State to close the season with 11 victories and three defeats. Illinois came from behind to nudge Northwestern 84-82, for a record of 10 wins and 3 losses.

Indiana, idle Monday night, has a record of 11 wins and 2 losses, but it must close its season Saturday at home against Illinois.

The Hoosiers could solve the question handily then by winning. A victory would give Indiana its second straight undisputed Big Ten title and give the club a chance to try to retain its NCAA title.

An Illinois win, however, would leave the three clubs deadlocked for the crown. The champion is supposed to enter the NCAA meet.

Athletic directors meet this week at Champaign and are expected to settle on a method of picking a tournament team before the Saturday battle. It appeared that had there been a possibility of a two-team tie, the directors would have called for a playoff, either on a neutral floor, or tossing a coin to decide which home court should be used.

A three team deadlock would require two playoff games, perhaps more than the directors would wish, so they might decide to pick the tournament club by conference vote.

Illinois was hard pressed to retain its title chance against Northwestern. John Kerr pitched in 32 points during the game, but the Illini trailed by 12 points in the first period, 9 at the half and 8 at three-quarters.

They managed to tie the scrap with four minutes left and then stalled out the last three minutes as Bill Ridley hit five free throws and Paul Judson a bucket and a gift toss.

Iowa had no problem with Ohio State after the first half. The Buckeyes, with Robin Freeman netting 21 points and Paul Elbert 20, stayed close through the first 20 minutes, but then the Hawks broke loose. Bill Logan dumped 18 points and Carl Cain and Sharm Scheuerman each 17.

In the other Big Ten games Monday night Wisconsin dumped Michigan State, 79-56, and Michigan topped Purdue, 83-79.

Regional Play Opens Tonight At Mt. Vernon

Bull Dogs Play Fairfield in Second Game

The regional basketball tournament at Mt. Vernon gets under way tonight with the Harrisburg Bull Dogs meeting Fairfield in the second contest, which starts at 8:30.

This tilt follows the 7 p. m. contest between Mt. Vernon and Ciske.

The advance dope is that Fairfield is a team that the Bull Dogs can beat if they get in and play their best ball. If they don't, they can hang up their suits and let their thoughts fondly turn to track and baseball.

Lower bracket games will be Wednesday night, with McLeansboro meeting Wayne City at 7:00 and Eldorado facing the Shawneetown Indians at 8:30.

Rams Are Favorites
Semi-finals will be held Thursday night with the winners of Mt. Vernon-Ciske and Harrisburg-Fairfield meeting at 7:00 and the McLeansboro-Wayne City and Eldorado-Shawneetown contest, victors facing each other at 8:30.

The final game for the championship, which will put the winner into the sectional meet at Harrisburg the following week, will be at 8 p. m. Friday.

The Mt. Vernon Rams, winners of the South Seven basketball conference race, are outstanding favorites to cop this tourney on their home floor.

Mt. Vernon isn't holding the only regional in southern Illinois this year. In fact, most of them got underway last night.

Tourney at Benton
The Monday night starters are those in which single semi-final games will be held on Wednesday and Thursday nights to take care of the crowd. Such meets are being held at Benton, where Carrier Mills played last night, at Mt. Carmel, Pinckneyville, Shawnee and Murphysboro. Meets starting tonight include Metropolis, Salem and, of course, Mt. Vernon.

At Benton, where it was Benton vs. Sesser and Carrier Mills vs. Zeigler last night, it will be Johnson City vs. Christopher followed by West Frankfort vs. Blufford tonight.

At Mt. Carmel, where Mt. Carmel faced Enfield and Norris City battled Albion last night, Grayville engages with Mill Shoals and Carmel meets Crossville tonight.

At Pinckneyville last night, the host team faced Red Bud and Sparta met Nashville and tonight it will be Chester vs. Du Quoin and Trico vs. Marissa.

At Benton, where Herrin vs. Carterville and Murphysboro vs. Elkhartville were the games last night, it will be Carbondale vs. University High and Marion vs. Attucks tonight.

And at Shawnee, where Shawnee met Mound City and Vienna faced Mounds last night, the card tonight will be Anna vs. Tammam and Mounds Douglass vs. Cairo Summer.

In tourneys starting tonight, Metropolis meets Joppa and Golconda faces Cave-in-Rock in the opening round at Metropolis; at Centralia, it will be Centralia vs. Aviston and Kimmunity vs. Sandoval.

La Grange Tops Final Ratings By United Press

SPRINGFIELD (P) — La Grange is the top team of the 1953-54 regular basketball season, final ratings by the United Press Board of Coaches showed today.

Ratings prepared on the eve of regional tournament play gave La Grange the first place votes of 14 of the 15 coaches who participate in the poll.

Mount Vernon, which ended up in third place, got the first-place vote of the 15th coach, Pinckneyville wound up a strong second to the La Grange Lions, and Quincy was rated fourth.

Rockford East, the Big Eight Conference champ, was fifth. Edwardsville, beaten in its finale with Mount Vernon, clung to its sixth-best position.

Litchfield, figured to travel to the "Sweet Sixteen" out of the midstate area, was rated seventh. Wood River, dumped by Edwardsville in its final regular season contest, again was eighth.

Cicero Morton, closing its season with 16 straight victories, and Moline, back on the winning trail at the season's end, shared ninth place. Centralia, ninth a week ago, slipped to 11th.

Barrington was No. 12. Princeton 13th, Rich Township of Park Forest 14th and Peoria Central 15th.

Paris and Rockford West were dropped from the list.

Kentucky Edges Indiana for Top Cage Rating

NEW YORK (P) — Coach Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats, who led for six straight weeks earlier in the campaign, regained first place today in the United Press college basketball ratings as a series of upsets caused a major shuffle among the 10 top teams.

Kentucky (23-6) edged Indiana (18-3) by just two points, 296 to 294, in voting by the 35 leading coaches who make up the United Press Board.

Duquesne (22-2), which has led for the past two weeks, slipped to third after losing to Cincinnati and Dayton on successive nights last week.

Western Kentucky (28-1), newly crowned Ohio Valley Conference

Wildcats Trip Zeigler, 62-50, in Benton Regional

Carrier Mills Will Face Benton in Semi-Finals Wednesday

Carrier Mills advanced through opening round play of the Benton regional tournament last night, defeating Zeigler, 62-50, in a game that was much closer than the score would indicate.

The victory puts Carrier Mills into semi-final competition, where they will face the host Benton club Wednesday night. Benton won its way into the semi-finals Monday with a 57-42 decision over Sesser.

Carrier Mills, favorite to take Zeigler into camp, had plenty of trouble with a determined Zeigler team, paced by its captain, Jarvis, who connected for 20 points.

The Wildcats also had a hot shooter in the person of Oliver Rollins, who took the scoring honors for the night with 32 markers.

The shooting of Rollins, plus the all-around balance of the 'Cats, pulled them past Zeigler in the closing minutes.

Late in the final frame Zeigler held the advantage, 50-48. At this point Carrier Mills rallied to count 14 points, while holding its opponent scoreless and win out 62-50.

Rollins Sensational
While the entire Carrier Mills team was displaying a steady brand of ball, Rollins was bordering on the sensational time after time. He rebounded off both boards in fine manner, came up with some fancy ball handling and his shooting was tops. On one occasion he took a rebound, dribbled the length of the floor with the grace and speed not often seen in a 230-pounder and scored on a rice layup shot.

Culbreth had his long shot working often enough to keep the Zeiglers' defense loosened up and allow the 'Cats to work their under-the-basket plays fairly regularly.

In the tourney opener Benton encountered unexpected strength from the Sesser team and the highly favored Rangers found themselves trailing at one point in the third frame. Although Sesser had only a one-point lead, 27-27, this amounted to a major surprise to most fans.

The score was knotted at 30-30 later in the third then the Sesser spark plug, Williams fouled out and with him went Sesser's hopes.

Games Tonight
Tonight Johnston City meets Christopher and West Frankfort plays Waltonville, to complete the first round play. Winners tonight will meet Thursday in semi-final play.

The championship game of the tourney is set for Friday at 7:30. Scoring in the Benton-Sesser game: Benton—Harbin 11, Grammer 11, Waller 8, Johnston 8, Wertz 5, Phillips 5, Sanders 3, Zimbleman 1 and Barnfield 5.

Sesser—Flatt 8, Garcia 12, Kelly 5, Thomas 3, Chastain 1, Thompson 3, Williams 9 and Eubanks 1.

Herrin is Upset, 52 to 49, By Carterville in Regional Play; Pinckneyville Wins

SPRINGFIELD (P) — Herrin became the first major upset victim today in the scramble for the Illinois prep basketball crown.

La Grange, Pinckneyville, Quincy and most other favorites breezed past opening round foes as 26 of the 60 regional tournaments got under way Monday night. The other 34 regionals open tonight.

Action Monday night cut the field for regional laurels to 428 teams. Of the 52 teams knocked out of the running, Herrin was the only one which had been seeded No. 1 in its regional.

Coach Leodio Cabutti's Herrin Tigers stumbled against unheralded Carterville at Murphysboro losing 52-49. Herrin had trounced Carterville by 23 points in a previous engagement.

Defending state champion La Grange, picked by many as a likely repeater, found the going easy in the curtain-raiser at Riverside. La Grange thrashed Morgan Park Military, 100-44.

Pinckneyville Wins
The win was the most lopsided in the Lions' history and gave them a season record of 20 victories in 21 starts. Center Ted Caiazza led the Lions with 32 points.

Downers Grove eked out a 58-56 triumph over the host five at Riverside and has the chore of stopping La Grange in the semi-finals. La Grange has beaten Downers Grove twice this season.

Pinckneyville, rated second only to La Grange in downstate Illinois, eliminated Red Bud from the Pinckneyville meet 56-46. Next foe for the powerful Panthers will be Sparta, 73-42 victor over Nashville.

Quincy toyed with Barry, winning 93-39 in the Kinderhook event. Seymour dumped Liberty 72-56 in the second half of the program.

Edwardsville's Tigers, a major southwestern threat, ran wild against Western Military at Alton and rang up a 110-58 score. Alton squeaked by Granite City 80-73 to

Egyptian Health Dep't News

Today, White, Saline, and Gallatin counties will launch a chest X-ray program which is scheduled to continue until March 17th. This is indeed a real community project. The tremendous amount of work connected with the campaign is being done by the people of the community. The X-ray program is sponsored jointly by the Egyptian Health Department, the County Tuberculosis associations, and the County Tuberculosis Sanatorium boards, and the State Department of Health.

The X-ray is a "first step" in finding tuberculosis, and the X-ray is to be available to every adult free of charge. In order to make this community health program a success, the cooperation of every adult is needed. Last year 4119 people in Saline county took advantage of this program — let's do even better this year.

When you get your chest X-ray, you will be making a sound investment for yourself and your community. Only you can take your chest to the X-ray machine and find out for sure that your lungs are healthy. All you will have to do is take a deep breath and hold it. It is as quick and easy as that. So don't forget the dates — let's all MARCH to the Mobile unit in MARCH!

Pope Observes 78th Birthday

VATICAN CITY — Pope Pius XII passed his 78th birthday quietly today, perhaps destined never again to resume in full the burdens which began at twilight of this day, 15 years ago.

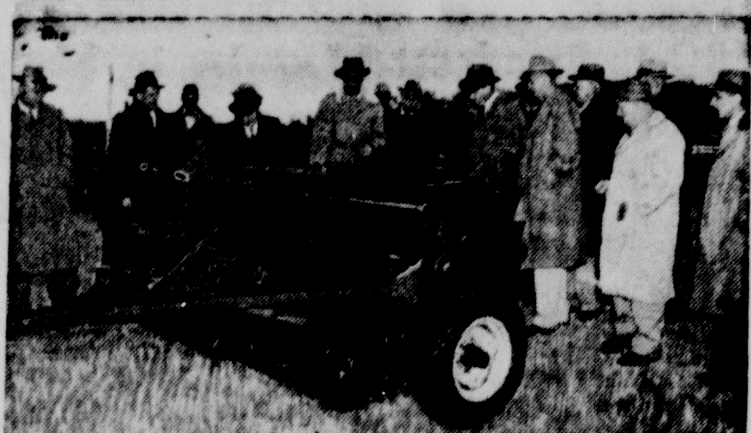

For the 400 million Roman Catholics who look to him as their supreme pontiff and spiritual leader, this is a sorrowful anniversary. The Pope had been confined to his simple bed with its iron posts and brass knobs for 36 days, suffering from a lingering illness. His ailment, officially diagnosed as gastritis, has left him in a general state of great weakness.

His birthday anniversary was observed by the faithful in prayers for his recovery. But for the man who was born in the shadows of the Vatican on March 2, 1876 as Eugenio Maria Giuseppe Giovanni Pacelli, there was another anniversary, 14 years ago, which was a source of greater sorrow.

The Pope had been elected supreme pontiff on his 63rd birthday, March 2, 1939 in the shortest balloting in the church's history, to succeed Pope Pius XI. Illness from Overwork

Then, in September of that year, World War II exploded. The first anniversary of his reign, on March 2, 1940, was for Pope Pius XII the most sad of all.

Pius XII cannot, his aides say, resume any ceremonies or audiences before Easter or mid-April. His aides are persuading him that

Doctors Refuse to Permit Ex-Wife to Visit Rep. Bentley

WASHINGTON — The ex-wife of Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.) flew here from Puerto Rico to visit the gravely wounded congressman today, but doctors refused to admit her to his hospital room.

Bentley, whose present wife is expecting a child soon, was the most seriously wounded of the five congressmen shot by Puerto Rican terrorists in the House chamber Monday.

He was reported somewhat improved but still in critical condition today after emergency surgery. A bullet entered his chest and pierced his lung, stomach and liver.

Mrs. James A. O'Toole, divorced from Bentley in 1951 and mother of three of his children, flew here with her present husband, a Washington attorney, from San Juan, Puerto Rico, where they were vacationing.

She hurried directly from the airport to Casualty Hospital to see Bentley. O'Toole accompanied her to the congressman's room, but both returned in a few minutes, and said doctors and nurses had told them Bentley was in no condition to receive visitors.

O'Toole said they were told that President Eisenhower had requested permission to visit Bentley but had been asked not to do so.

Springfield Firemen Sue for Back Pay

SPRINGFIELD — The city of Springfield faced a $70,871 suit today filed by policemen and firemen seeking back pay.

The 182 policemen and firemen filed suit in Sangamon County Circuit Court Monday for money they said they have coming to them since last June, when the Illinois Legislature boosted their minimum pay.

The Legislature passed a law raising the floors for salaries for city police and firemen. In Springfield, the new minimum is $350.

The city failed to pay the full minimum, however, on grounds it lacked the money. City officials indicated property taxes now may be increased to get the $70,871.

He must never again resume the awesome burden of work he conducted before his illness.

This is a sorrowful birthday note for a man who has devoted to the church all of a lifetime, now in its 78th year.

Pasture Renovator Demonstration March 4 At W. H. Brinkley Farm

On Thursday, March 4, at the Wm. H. Brinkley farm, an official of the Illinois Central Railroad Conservation Department will supervise a pasture renovation demonstration with the International Harvester No. 1 pasture renovator it was announced this week.

This machine was developed and improved upon with the cooperation of the Harvester Company and the U. S. Railroad Conservation Department. Extensive use has been made in the Bowling Green, Ky., area and several of these machines are now in use in Kentucky and Indiana, the local I.H.C. dealer, reports.

The essential use of this machine is to slice the sod of an old pasture with a coultter then a knife blade applies a layer of fertilizer. Then a layer of dirt covers the fertilizer. Grass seed such as fescue, oats or rye is then applied on this loose dirt and a roller packs the dirt on top of the seed. Behind this roller clovers and smaller grass seed are applied. This application is made in rows 11 inches apart and the overall width of the renovator is 8 ft. 9 in. The above operation can be completed with the cattle remaining in the field.

Farm advisers, Dixon Springs experiment station personnel and other specialists in addition to all farmers are invited to attend this demonstration which will introduce a new era for pasture and livestock farmers, the sponsor stated.

House Votes to Postpone Cut in Corporation Tax

By United Press
The House Ways and Means Committee voted overwhelmingly today to postpone for one year a 5 per cent drop in corporation income taxes scheduled for April 1. In a surprisingly top-heavy vote of 22-2, the tax-writing committee endorsed President Eisenhower's request that the corporate levy be kept at the present level of 52 per cent instead of dropping to 47 per cent.

Committee Chairman Daniel A. Reed meanwhile introduced a bill calling for a one-billion-dollar a year slash in federal excise sales taxes on furs, jewelry, cosmetics, admission tickets, travel fares, telephone tolls and other items. The legislation, which the committee will consider Wednesday, would cut all of these excises to 10 per cent. They now range from 15 to 25 per cent.

Mr. Eisenhower's Budget Message to Congress did not recommend any excise tax cuts, but neither did it slam the door on those proposed by Reed. Mr. Eisenhower's only recommendation on the subject was that current excise rates on liquor, beer, gasoline, cigarettes and automobiles be maintained for another year instead of dropping April 1 as scheduled. The committee will act on that proposal Wednesday, too.

These tax bills are in addition to a catch-all measure, already approved by the committee, to grant about 1 1/2 billion dollars in selective tax relief to business and individuals.

Assistant State Labor Director, Ex-Highway Worker Indicted

PEORIA — A spokesman for Gov. William G. Stratton said today a Peoria County grand jury's charges of extensive political shakedowns stemmed from a local fight between party factions. The grand jury Monday returned an indictment charging Asst. State Labor Director Joseph Hodges and ex-highway maintenance worker Frank Kendall with collecting political "kickbacks" from state highway workers. William W. Downey, Stratton's administrative aide, said the governor had already fired Kendall and William Pittman, Peoria highway garage foreman, Feb. 19 for making such collections, violating a standing Stratton order.
